

Innocent: Hodge Plea

Ex-Auditor Nods Agreement to Lawyer's Action

$100,000 Bond is Put Up; 30 Days Granted for Motions

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP) — Ex-State Auditor Orville E. Hodge today pleaded innocent to 46 indictments charging him with embezzlement of $637,000 in state money. Hodge sat silent and unsmiling through his arraignment in Circuit Court and rose only to nod his agreement when his attorney entered the innocent plea.

Judge DeWitt S. Crow set Hodge's bond at $100,000, which was put up by Nathan Strum, a professional bondsman, and William C. Henry, a Lake Springfield neighbor of Hodge.

Hodge's attorney, Arthur M. Fitzgerald, asked and was granted 30 days in which to withdraw the plea and enter motions to quash the indictment.

Believe "Covering" Someone Before the plea, State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon said he thought Hodge was "covering up" for someone else in the investigation. He said he did not know who Hodge was "shielding" but that he expected "new names" to enter the case before long.

The indictments also charged Hodge with forgery, and operating a confidence game in the huge check case involving his office. They contained a total of 276 counts.

As Hodge entered the historic Sangamon County courthouse for his arraignment, a newsboy stood on the courthouse lawn shouting, "Why Hodge stole; read all about it."

Hodge arrived at the courthouse in a dapper blue suit and blue tie. He was accompanied by Fitzgerald, Strum, Henry and William Ryan, a politician friend.

Injunction Issued A 176-page "clean breast" statement by Hodge was read by Coutrakon to newsmen Wednesday. In it, Hodge admitted "100 per cent responsibility" for a huge phony check scheme which Coutrakon said may involve more than one million dollars.

In another development of the far-ranging scandal Wednesday, a superior court judge in Chicago issued a preliminary injunction designed to prevent Hodge from selling or transferring property. The court order was obtained by Mrs. Valentine Sharp, a legal secretary for a group of attorneys. She filed suit against Hodge as a taxpayer.

The move was planned to keep Hodge from disposing of property which might involve money taken by the one-time auditor through cashing of state warrants.

2 Brothers Drown Near Marion

MARION, Ill. (UP) — Two brothers drowned in a lake near here Wednesday after the older one went to the rescue of the other. Robert Pulley, 16, and his brother, Wesley, 12, were in a boat when Wesley jumped in the lake for a swim. When the youth called for help, Robert leaped in to rescue him, but was pulled under by his brother's struggling.

U. S. Bureau Reports Mine Accidents Cost 37 Lives During June

WASHINGTON (UP) — Accidents took the lives of 37 coal miners during June, pushing the year's total to 233—19 more than at a comparable period last year. The Bureau of Mines reported that 15 of the 37 deaths in June occurred in mines in West Virginia.

Pennsylvania had eight, Virginia and Alabama had four each and Kentucky had three. Illinois, Indiana and Ohio each reported one mine fatality.

There has not been a major mine disaster since November, 1954. A major disaster is described by the bureau as one in which five or more men are killed.

THESE FUGITIVES ESCAPED the police net thrown around them Monday night in the Galatia-Raleigh area. Profiles and front views are shown in these police photos of William Bolten, 27, above, and Bruno Skirmont, 37. The two were wanted on fugitive warrants, issued after they fled following their releases under $60,000 armed robbery bonds. They are charged with holding up six Chicago taverns and are called the "silk stocking bandits" because they covered their faces with silk stockings when committing their holdups. Being pressed by officers around 11 a. m. Monday, they left their car in a barnyard and made their way across the countryside on foot.

Stone Auto Found Near Mound City; Believed Left by Fugitives

MOUND CITY, Ill. (UP) — A sheriff said today he thought he had picked up the trail of two Chicago fugitives who have been sought in this area since Monday. The two men are Bruno Skirmont, 37, and William Bolten, 27.

John W. Rawlins, 75, Former Resident, Dies at Pontiac, Mich.

John W. Rawlins, former Harrisburg resident, died in Pontiac, Mich., Monday evening at the age of 75.

He leaves five children: Mrs. John Wiedeman, Mrs. Theodore Schlapf, Mrs. Gladys Bishop and Mrs. Bertha Norman, all of Pontiac, Mich., and Mrs. James Newcomb of Harrisburg; 10 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren; one brother, Edgar Rawlins, and one sister, Mrs. Carrie Olvin, both of Pontiac.

The body was returned to Harrisburg by the Turner funeral services and the body will lie in state at the funeral home until the funeral which will be Friday afternoon in the chapel. Burial will be in the Raleigh cemetery.

Luthringer Praises Harrisburg Area CIPSCO Employees for Safety Record

Central Illinois Public Service Co. employees in the Harrisburg area have received praise from M. S. Luthringer, president, for helping reduce CIPSCO's accident frequency rate in electrical operations in 1955 more than 25 per cent under the average rate for the preceding three years.

The company has been cited by the Edison Electric Institute for this achievement. Accident frequency rates are based on the number of employee lost-time accidents per million manhours worked. A lost-time accident is one in which an employee suffers an injury that prevents him from reporting for the next day's work.

Local CIPSCO personnel were complimented in a letter from Luthringer to Division manager, W. A. Luecke, at Marion. Luthringer wrote:

"We are proud of this recognition but we are even more proud of our company employees who contributed as individuals, and as a group, to this progress toward accident-free operations. Their continued attention to safety, minimized injuries to our skilled people. It helped protect the company's costly equipment. It

Stratton and Paschen Trade Verbal Punches

GALESBURG, Ill. (UP) — Verbal punches over the handling of the Orville E. Hodge case were swung Wednesday night by rivals in the state's gubernatorial campaign.

Republican Gov. William G. Stratton and Herbert G. Paschen, Democratic candidate for governor, spoke simultaneously at rival political rallies on opposite sides of the street here.

Stratton, who seeks re-election, defended his action in obtaining Hodge's resignation while Paschen charged that Stratton did not act fast enough in the case.

Paschen also demanded the firing of State Finance Director Morton H. Hollingsworth because of the scandal, which he said could not have developed without Hollingsworth's knowledge.

Stratton, who assured his audience he would not be satisfied until Hodge was punished and the state funds recovered, called Paschen's criticism contradictory.

"At first, Paschen said I was being too harsh and that Hodge should have a greater chance," Stratton said. "A few days later he said the only way to remove Hodge... was to have a special session of the legislature."

"He made that statement the same day your governor was securing the resignation from Hodge."

Paschen said the "Hodge scandal" is the Stratton scandal. "Hodge is the one taking the blame," Paschen said, "but he could never in the world have walked off with all that money unless Stratton has let him get two years behind in making financial reports."

Chicago Speeds Inoculations

CHICAGO (UP) — More than 100 emergency clinics were expected to inoculate a half a million persons within the next two weeks as Chicago's polio total continued to mount.

Dr. Herman Bundesen, Board of Health president, announced that several Chicago area hospitals will administer Salk anti-polio vaccine, in addition to 50 inoculation centers.

"We're fighting against time to get the children immunized before the peak polio season arrives in early August," Bundesen said. "We can lick it if the people cooperate with the inoculation program."

The highest one-day count this year was reported as 28 more victims were struck by the crippling disease, raising the year's total to 328. The death of a 19-month old infant increased the fatal roster to nine since January.

At this time last year, 45 cases and two deaths had been reported.

Issue 3 Permits For Oil Drilling In Saline County

Three permits for oil well drilling in Saline county were issued at Springfield between July 17 and July 23.

The permits: To C. E. Brehm, Mt. Vernon, for the Verl Springs No. 4, SEC, 19-75-5e (Tate);

To Pitts and Bassford, Alton, for the W. H. Bramlet No. 1, NWC NE NE, 30-85-7e (Eldorado);

Strong Wind Hits Here During Night

A strong wind came up quickly between 1:30 and 2 a. m. today, tearing off tree branches and knocking over antennas throughout the city. The windstorm, accompanied by rain, was brief. The General Telephone Co. said it had scattered damage in the area.

Woman 'Drives' In

EATON RAPIDS, Mich. (UP) — Mrs. Anna Ernberger, 81, of Lake Odessa, Mich., drove into a "drive in" dairy store Wednesday and the store will never be the same. She missed the driveway, knocked down the sign and slammed into the building, shoving it eight inches off its foundation. She was not hurt.

Tison, Hall to Hold Open House This Week End

An open house, to display their latest building product — beauty stone—will be held Saturday and Sunday, July 28 and 29, by Tison and Hall Concrete Products, Inc.

A new office and storage building has been constructed on the Tison and Hall property on Route 45 in East Harrisburg, with beauty stone being used extensively, both in the exterior and interior construction.

In addition to the open house tour of the office and storage building on both Saturday and Sunday, those visiting the plant Saturday will have an opportunity to see beauty stone being manufactured.

The open house will be an all-day affair Saturday and Sunday the building will be open for inspection from 12 o'clock noon until 7 p. m.

The owners and operators of the concrete products business, Delmar Tison and James Hall, have been active in the business since 1945 and the manufacture of beauty stone is the latest step in this progressive business enterprise.

Although the product is not exclusive with Tison and Hall, the term "Beauty Stone" will be the trademark of the Tison and Hall product.

Even though the Harrisburg firm is new in the manufacture of beauty stone, the product is being widely used in building construction, both locally and in other areas.

Tison and Hall have shipped several car loads of the stone to communities far distant from Harrisburg, including a car load to a contractor in the Atlantic City area.

There will be valuable door prizes for the open house and everyone visiting the plant is encouraged to register for the prizes.

There is nothing to buy, just register to become eligible for one of the valuable door prizes.

Council to Open Bids For Traffic Lights Tonight

The Harrisburg city council will meet at seven o'clock tonight to open bids for construction of traffic lights at Main and Poplar streets.

House Cites Miller for Contempt by 373-9 Vote; Prosecution Under Study

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Justice Department was deciding today whether to prosecute playwright Arthur Miller for contempt of Congress when he returns home from his honeymoon in England with Marilyn Monroe.

The House voted 373-9 Wednesday to cite Miller for contempt because he refused to identify for committee on un-American activities persons with whom he attended allegedly pro-Communist meetings in 1947.

The citation was sent to the Justice Department which has final say on whether or not to prosecute Miller. The maximum penalty for conviction on a contempt of Congress charge is one year in prison and a $1,000 fine on each count. Seven other former witnesses before the committee also were cited by the House. They were Otto Nathan, New York University professor and executor of the estate of the late Albert Einstein; George Tyne, New York actor; Elliott Sullivan, also a New York actor; Peter Seeger, an entertainer; Mrs. Anne Yaguar Kline, John W. Simpson and William E. Davis, all of St. Louis.

The committee did not ask the House to vote on its recommendation that Negro singer Paul Robeson be cited for contempt. Robeson denounced the committee as "un-American" when he appeared before it earlier this summer.

Postal Rate Increase Bill is Killed in Rush for Adjournment

WASHINGTON (UP) — A Senate post office subcommittee today killed the bill to raise postal rates.

The subcommittee abandoned the bill, requested by President Eisenhower, as both houses sprinted toward adjournment by the week's end. The House had passed a measure to raise postal rates by 430 million dollars.

Speaker Sam Rayburn said he thinks Congress will quit for the year some time Friday.

The Senate was hitting a faster clip for the time being than the House. It passed a $3,770,000,000 foreign aid money bill, a $2,100,000,000 military building measure, a $1,500,000,000 rivers and harbors bill, and several other pieces of legislation in quick succession.

The social security liberalization bill made progress toward enactment when Senate-House conferees agreed on a final version. Both houses were expected to complete action on it and send it to the White House today.

Some Heads for Dump Among bills doubtful of passage was one providing loans and grants to areas suffering from chronic unemployment and industrial distress. The Senate passed it but its prospects in the House were dim.

Despite a last-minute telephoned plea from President Eisenhower, the House killed the proposed 156-million-dollar Frypan-Arkansas project in Colorado.

Apparently headed for the legislative dump were measures to encourage private development of atomic power. One would exempt from public utility act restrictions utilities which band together to build and run non-profit research and development reactors. Another would provide government insurance for private atomic power plants in event of disaster.

A parliamentary snarl threatened the controversial housing bill. House members balked at a pro-

Tragedy Occurs During 'Last Night Out' Party

NANTUCKET, Mass. (UP) — The 9-million-dollar Italian luxury liner Andrea Doria, rammed by the Swedish liner Stockholm, sank today in the Atlantic 45 miles south of here a little more than an hour after the loss of her 1,635 passengers and crew members were removed in a dramatic fog-shrouded rescue operation.

The big Italian liner slid beneath the waters of the Atlantic at 1:09 a. m. EDT. The Coast Guard reported that she sank in 225 feet of water.

At midmorning only the fantail of the 3-year-old, 29,083-ton liner—the pride of the Italian merchant fleet—remained above water. Salvage operations appeared impossible.

At least four persons were reported to have died as the result of the tragedy which occurred at 11:20 p. m. EDT Wednesday while the Andrea Doria's passengers celebrated at a "last night out" party. The huge black-hulled liner was to have arrived in New York today.

Ships Respond to SOS

American Navy experts were baffled as to why radar equipment aboard the liners did not prevent the accident which wiped out the Italian liner.

Within 10 minutes after the 12,600-ton, white-hulled Stockholm knifed into the starboard side of the Andrea Doria other ships in the area, called the "Times Square of the Atlantic," began to respond to SOS calls. The Andrea Doria was unable to put down its own life boats and its passengers—among them many notables including the mayor of Philadelphia—had to scramble down cargo lines and nets to reach rescue boats.

The French liner Ile de France turned back in its course to Europe to carry out the bulk of the rescue operations which attracted a score of liners, freighters, transports and Coast Guard vessels.

Professor, Titled Bride Rescued From Italian Liner

NEW YORK (UP) — A Marquette University professor and his titled European bride wound up their three-month honeymoon today by being rescued from the liner Andrea Doria.

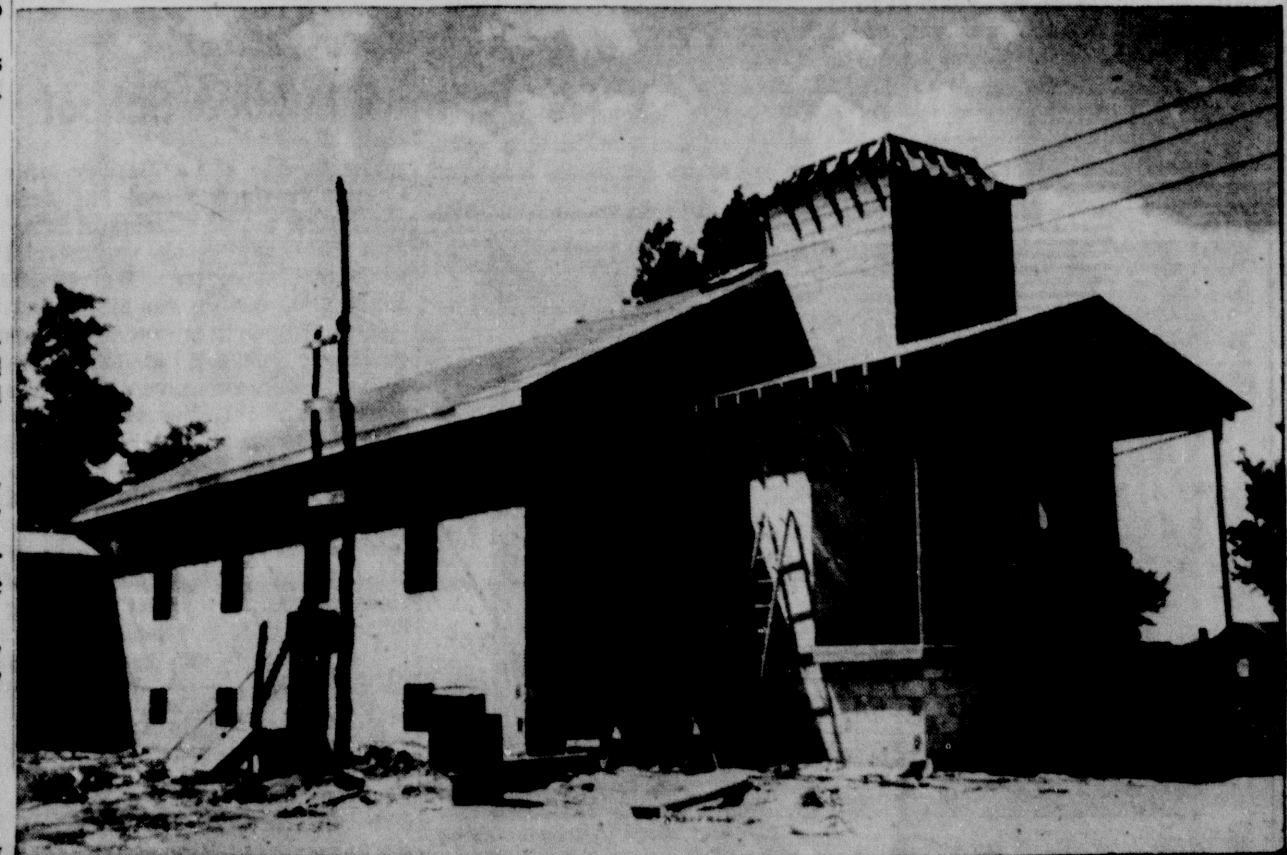

Dr. John Pick and his wife, the former Marchesa Cecilia Barbara of Florence, Italy, were to have arrived today aboard the ill-starred liner en route to Milwaukee, Wis., where they will make their home.

They were married in Valetta, Malta, April 18 and have been honeymooning on the continent. Pick, editor of the Catholic literary review "Renaissance," has been an exchange professor at the Royal University of Malta for the last year. Mrs. Pick, a native of Malta, is the owner of the historic Palazzo Barbaro and its adjoining chapel of the Order of Malta in Florence.

LIBERTY BAPTIST CHURCH, organized in 1832, is getting a new building, shown above, to replace the one destroyed by fire last October. The church has given benefits to secure money and members say the response has been fine. Two hired carpenters are working on the building and the rest of the work has been donated. Work started a month ago and although construction has been slowed at the present while awaiting windows, members hope that the church can occupy the building before cold weather sets in. Approach to The Presidency

Editorial — By BRUCE BLOSSAT

As the heavy presidential campaigning gets under way in the months ahead, the American people will be trying hard to weigh not only President Eisenhower's capacity to serve but his whole approach to his job.

And there is a possibility that the two may become confused unless a determined effort is made to sort them out.

For example, neither former President Harry Truman nor 1956 aspirant Adlai Stevenson believe the President's health should be dwelt upon in the campaign. But Mr. Truman thinks Democrats can talk about whether Mr. Eisenhower has been a "part-time President." And Stevenson often speaks of what he calls the present "diminution of the Presidency."

Here is where confusion can enter. Many who use the term "part-time President" are thinking about time not spent in Washington or at the White House desk. But Stevenson has something else in mind.

He, and some others, believe Mr. Eisenhower has the wrong approach to his task. They will say this even when he is able to be at it full-time. They think he is converting it into a smaller job than it should be.

These critics contend, for one thing, that the President delegates too much authority to non-elective officials.

They argue that in his drive to make the office of President a more efficient operation he has often reduced his own role to that of mere referee among competing, or quarreling, points of view.

In other words, they say he simply asks cabinet or agency heads to prepare their programs for him to pass upon, and where they conflict he will decide the course.

There is no question Mr. Eisenhower has modified the executive establishment, as most every president does in some way or other. What the people must determine if they can is whether he has improved it, as Republicans insist, or reduced its stature as Stevenson asserts.

Obviously, merely changing the job doesn't automatically hurt it. We must guard against any argument that seems to suggest the Presidency is today less effective just because it is different than it used to be.

Republicans declare that it is misleading to say the President has downgraded his job by organizing it so that fewer routine matters come before him and he devotes himself to "refereeing" on the big policy questions.

They would say it has always been thus on top issues—that the grubby work of basic programming is done at lower levels and the President enters the picture only when the moment of delicate, and difficult, choice arrives.

And they would argue that the problem of such choices is the very heart of the Presidency—not a matter of calling balls and strikes but a hard, lonely, soul-searching task which can be delegated to no one.

Which analysis of Mr. Eisenhower's approach is the correct one is what the voters must decide, and at the same time keep separate from the wholly different matter of his fitness to serve.

"Why That Makes US the Greatest Show on Earth!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Machinery of Government Has Strange Wheels Within Wheels; Champion Of Civil Rights Suspected Of Being Greater Champion Of Private Utilities; Senator Welker Blocks Bill To Help Small Business.

WASHINGTON. — Strange wheels within wheels sometimes operate the machinery of democracy. When a solon makes an impassioned speech on the floor of Congress, vows by all that's holy that he is convinced a certain bill will ruin the Republic, you can never be quite sure what's behind that speech. Sometimes he's just scratching someone's back in return for a favor someone will do him. Here are some current examples:

Backscratch No. 1 — "I make this motion in utter sincerity," proclaimed GOP Congressman William E. Miller of Lockport, N. Y., last week, "because I am profoundly convinced that this legislation in its present form will destroy more civil liberties and civil rights than it will ever protect."

The congressman referred to the civil rights bill to protect the voting rights of Negroes. He himself had signed his name to the bill as a co-author. Up until he made the above speech, he was vigorously for the bill. Then suddenly he moved to throw the entire bill into the legislative ashcan.

Nobody could have sounded more choked with "utter sincerity" and overflowing with "profound conviction" as he spoke than the congressman from Lockport.

But colleagues who listened were not profoundly impressed. For they were certain that behind the speech was a backscratch whereby two southerners on the Rules committee, Colmer of Mississippi and Smith of Virginia, would agree to block the Niagara Falls bill, turning power over to public, not private, development, if Miller tried to block civil rights.

Miller long has been known as the congressional champion of private utilities. Three years ago he authored the bill, strongly opposed by Governor Dewey, turning Niagara power over to five utilities. And he opposed the recent Lehman bill for public development of Niagara. The Lehman bill, however, passed the Senate, and the only thing that can stop passage in the House is a blockade in the Rules committee. This Colmer and Smith can probably do.

Backscratch No. 2 — Two important bills to protect small business are: (1) The equality of opportunity bill to prevent chain stores and big oil companies from undercutting independents; and (2) the pre-merger notification bill requiring big firms to notify the Justice Department before merging.

Both have passed the House, thanks to the tireless pushing of the two foremost champions of small business—Manny Celler of Brooklyn and Wright Patman of Texas, Democrats. But they have been stuck in the Senate Judiciary committee, thanks to Welker of Idaho, Dirksen of Illinois, and Jenner of Indiana—all Republicans.

Last Friday the committee met to pry the two bills loose. But Welker sent a telegram from Idaho demanding no action until the next Friday, by which time Congress would probably adjourn. Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming, staunch champion of small business, was furious.

"The last regular meeting of this committee was on Monday," he said. "Under the rules, the Senator from Idaho can delay only until the next regular meeting—which will be Monday, not next Friday."

Welker was backscratching chiefly for big business, which opposes both bills; partly for Attorney General Brownell, who officially favors the pre-merger notification bill but is against the equality of opportunity bill.

Backscratch No. 3 — Occurred over a bill to deny minority stockholders the right to elect directors to bank boards, as required under the New Deal bank reforms of 1933. Big bankers want this repealed, but are letting small banks do the lobbying.

Last year, Kentucky's courtly, conscientious Brent Spence refused to introduce the bill in the House, also refused to hold hearings on an identical bill that passed the Senate. "It's a bad bill," he said.

However, ex-Speaker Joe Martin recently approached Spence, a Democrat. Martin had received a call from the Manufacturers National Bank in Attleboro, Mass., of which he is a director. Joe urged passage. White House emissaries also applied the heat. Chairman Spence, who rules the Banking and Currency Committee with a firm though courteous hand, reversed himself.

"The administration wants this passed," he told Democratic members of his committee. Suddenly Spence began to turn hand-springs for the "bad bill" which he had once refused to introduce.

Last week he demanded fast action. Congressman Multer of Brooklyn objected, demanded hearings, then proposed amendments. Spence ignored his amendments, called for a vote. The committee voted at 12:03 p. m. to send the bill to the House for final action. This was three minutes after the House had convened, therefore the vote was illegal. But Chairman Spence gaveled it through anyway.

Thus was speeded the end of a banking reform passed when the banks went haywire in 1933 and closed their doors all over the nation. Thus also operate the sometimes unwieldy wheels of the machinery of democracy.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Secretary of Defense Wilson has been trying to spot the leak of anti-Air Force stories to the press, particularly the big scoop scored by Tony Leviero of the New York Times, regarding the proposed 800,000 manpower cut in the Army. Wilson finally put the finger on Gen. L. C. Metheny, gave him a choice of retiring or being shipped out of Washington.

Metheny decided to retire. . . . Congressman John Dowdy (D., Tex.) has his wife on the payroll for $9,128 a year up until April 30. Then the folks down in Texas got irked and he dropped her. . . .

Hugh Morrow of the Saturday Evening Post has just written a penetrating piece on Chairman Paul Butler of the Democratic National committee. Morrow spent considerable time with Butler in Indiana and elsewhere, came away sold on Butler's sincerity and honesty.

Complete Faculty For Carrier Mills High School

The faculty of the Carrier Mills Community high school has been completed with the hiring of Mary Ann Richardson as commercial subjects instructor. Warren G. Jennings, principal, has announced.

Miss Richardson received her bachelors degree in 1953 from Southern Illinois University. While a student at SIU she was a member of the band and chorus and also a member of the honorary Business Education fraternity, Pi Omega Pi.

Miss Richardson, a graduate of the Du Quoin high school with the class of 1951, taught at Freeburg during the 1955-56 school term.

She succeeds John Austin in the CMCHS commerce department. Mr. Austin resigned to accept the principalship of the Carrier Mills grade school.

Other new members of the CMCHS faculty are Robert L. Aaron, biology and chemistry, succeeding Frankie Blackman now in the Army, and A. L. "Kayo" Willis, coach and physical education, succeeding Claude Shelton, who resigned to accept the head basketball post at Metropolis high school.

Flynn to Succeed Wright as UI Public Relations Director

HARVARD, Ill. (AP)—Two University of Illinois administrative officers today were made vice presidents by vote of the trustees, meeting here at the home of Board President H. B. Megran.

The board also named Charles E. Flynn, in charge of publicity for the athletic association the past 12 years, to succeed Joseph F. Wright, retiring this fall from the public relations post.

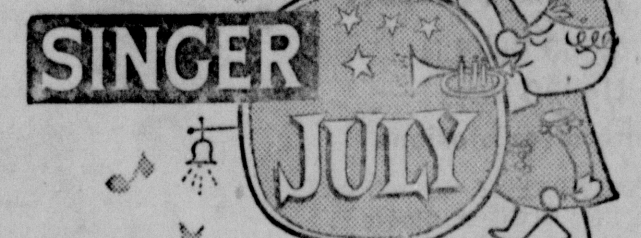

Named vice presidents were

Provost Henning Larsen, who also is professor of English, and H. O. Farber, comptroller for the university and for the university retirement system of Illinois. They will be the only vice presidents on the downstate campus.

The trustees accepted a $141,000 grant from the W. K. Kellogg foundation, Battle Creek, Mich., for the support of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters which has headquarters at the university.

Consumer Spending Hits New Records

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans bought record quantities of retail goods during the first six months of 1956.

The Commerce Department said Tuesday night consumer spending during the first half of the year was the "basic supporting element" in the economy.

The department said retail sales hit new records despite a drop in auto sales. Total retail sales were 4 per cent higher than in the same period last year.

Czechoslovakia

To Cut Armed Forces

VIENNA (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia has decided to cut its armed forces by 10,000 men immediately, Prague Radio announced today.

They said "the national economy operated at a record rate, well above the same period a year ago."

The "free use" of credit helped bolster consumer buying, the survey reported, with almost 16 billion dollars in new installment credit extended from January through May. That was "substantially" larger than a year ago.

Illinois Soil Districts Ass'n to Hold Annual Meeting Aug. 5-6-7

CARBONDALE, Ill.—The eighth annual meeting of the Association of Illinois Soil Conservation Districts will convene for a three-day session at Southern Illinois University Sunday, Aug. 5. Illinois Soil Conservation district directors will have their annual meeting in conjunction with the association's convention.

Following a barbecue on the SIU agricultural campus Sunday evening highlights of the three-day meeting will include an assembly address by the Rev. W. L. Cummins, Harrisburg Methodist minister; the annual dinner meeting with Illinois Agriculture Director Stillman J. Stanard as the speaker on Monday evening, Aug. 6; presentation of awards at the dinner session; and general sessions Tuesday, Aug. 7, with State Senator Glen O. Jones, Harrisburg, among the speakers.

Cooperators in sponsoring the meeting are the Illinois Department of Agriculture Division of Soil Conservation, the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, the Association of Illinois Soil Conservation Districts, and SIU. All conference sessions will be in the University School auditorium except the Monday evening dinner meeting which will be in the University Cafeteria.

Plan Campus Tours
Registration will begin at 2 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 5, in Woody Hall, student residence hall where the conference delegates will live. Campus tours will be arranged for the afternoon prior to the 5 p. m. barbecue on the agricultural campus. Paul Trivoli, Brownfield, district director, will preside at the opening session at 7 p. m. in University School auditorium where Rev. Cummins will speak. William J. Tudor, SIU area services director, will welcome the group and Willard Cook, DeKalb, president of the Association of Illinois Soil Conservation Districts, will respond briefly.

Howard M. McDonald, Trivoli, soil conservation district director, will preside at Monday's forenoon session, beginning at 9 a. m. in University School. The program will include a panel discussion on cooperatively planning the district soil conservation program. Moderator will be Paul Halbersleben. Participants will be representatives of the U. S. and state forest services, state and U. S. soil conservation services, and the extension service in Illinois.

There also will be a forum discussion on watershed programs, regulations, and planning with reports from Shelby and Wabash counties; and brief reports on the state plowing contest, the speaking contest, and the annual convention of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

President Cook will preside at the annual business meeting of the state association, beginning at 1:15 p. m. Tuesday, during which there will be election of directors and alternates, confirmation of permanent committees, and appointment of the nominating committee.

The annual dinner meeting, beginning at 6 p. m. in University Cafeteria, will climax the Monday, Aug. 6, activities. In addition to an address by Illinois Director of Agriculture Stillman J. Stanard, the program will include presentation of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company district awards; the ten-year award; the St. Louis Globe-Democrat 1955 district award; and recognition of the directors and work unit staff of the Mason County Soil Conservation District as the 1955 "modern pioneers" by the Keystone Steel and Wire company.

The state association's board of directors will hold their official session for the election of officers following the Monday evening dinner meeting.

Tuesday, Aug. 7, morning's program will be highlighted by a discussion of water conservation, use, and rights by State Senator Glen O. Jones, Harrisburg, chairman of the state commission studying water uses and water rights in Illinois. Committee reports also will be heard. Afternoon activities will include reports from the state president of the association's ladies auxiliary; from Philip Jones, winner of the national 4-H conservation education project award; B. K. Barton, director of conservation education; and tours of the SIU experimental farms.

The concluding assembly in University School auditorium Tuesday evening will include entertainment and an illustrated lecture on conservation in India. Tours of the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment Station have been arranged for Wednesday as a post-conference activity.

Cain Resigns from Loyalty-Security Control Board

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry P. Cain, outspoken critic of the administration's loyalty-security program, resigned today as a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board.

His resignation was announced by the White House, effective Aug. 9 when Cain's current three-year term expires. However, President Eisenhower asked Cain to continue serving temporarily on the board if his successor has not been named by then.

Cain once reported that Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams called him and gave him "unshowered hell" for his public criticism of the administration security program for government employees.

Cain's running battle with the administration over the loyalty-security program was climaxed by a face-to-face meeting with Mr. Eisenhower last month.

Cain emerged from the meeting "hopeful" of reforms in the program.

Fluorspar Firm Protests Proposed Removal of Train

J. Blacheisen of the Rosiclare Lead and Fluorspar Mining Co. has protested the proposed removal of the New York Central passenger service between Harrisburg and Chicago, telling the Illinois Commerce commission how the action would affect Rosiclare and Hardin county.

In a letter to the ICC, Mr. Blacheisen says:

"We understand the New York Central Railroad has filed application with you to withdraw the passenger service (meager as it is) between Harrisburg, Illinois, and Chicago, Illinois.

"We protest the withdrawal of this only railroad passenger service between our area and Chicago. Rosiclare has no passenger railroad facilities except at Harrisburg, 30 miles distant from here. The next nearest railroad passenger service is at Carbondale, 60 miles distant.

"If the New York Central gives up its passenger traffic out of Harrisburg—we here, indeed, will be adrift from railroad passenger service.

"Hardin county (wherein Rosiclare is located), is engaged in a local community development program staffed by volunteer citizens, designed to bring about some economic rehabilitation in the area. The removal of passenger service at Harrisburg would be a death blow to any such efforts to economic rehabilitation in this area. We don't even have bus service coming down here—the nearest bus service is at Harrisburg. "We suggest that the application be denied."

Pastors Meet

The group of pastors who sponsor the WSIL-TV Baptist hour daily at 6:30 a. m. met recently at the First Baptist church here to make plans for the next three months of programs which will begin in September after the first period ends. Rev. Joe Morman is chairman of the group.

State Convention of American War Dads and Auxiliary Held at Danville

The Illinois State Association of the American War Dads and Auxiliary held their annual convention at the Hotel Wolford in Danville, Saturday and Sunday. The Dads' meeting was presided over by State President Norman Kendall of Peoria and Mrs. W. F. Fanning, Auxiliary State president, presided at the meeting of the Auxiliary. Harley Hewes, president of Danville chapter was convention chairman.

The meeting opened Saturday morning with a joint session and the keynote address was by Wallace T. Hemmings, national vice president and secretary of the State association. After the council luncheon, both groups went in to business sessions and at the adjournment, representatives of other patriotic groups of Danville were presented. They included the auxiliaries of the V. F. W., D. A. V. Navy Mothers and American Legion and several others. At 4 p. m., there was a tour of the Veterans hospital conducted by Lyle S. Toy.

At the banquet Saturday night held in the ball room of the Hotel Wolford, Claud Liggett was master of ceremonies and music was by Mrs. Frank Warnhoff, soloist, and Mrs. Clyde Vasconcellos at the piano. The address was given by Dr. O. P. Timm, general supervisor of the Veterans hospital for the mentally ill at Danville where there are 1700 patients.

Dr. Timm stated this was one of the best equipped hospitals in the United States and pointed out the urgent need for a better understanding by family, friends and the community of the problems facing the patient who becomes rehabilitated to the point where he can be returned to his home and that the lack of this understanding and cooperation was the major cause of patients having to return for further care. Dr. Timm also said that only a very small percentage of mental illness was caused by actual disease of the brain or physical disease and the remainder was a result of the patient's inability to adjust to the tensions and stresses under which he must live in the world as it is today.

He spoke highly of the rehabilitation work being done at the Danville hospital by the American War Dads Auxiliary and other similar groups. At the conclusion of his address, the group was entertained by the Dancing Kickapoo, a group of seven boys under the direction of Edward A. Hewes. They were dressed in beautiful authentic Indian costumes and demonstrated the ritualistic dances of the Indians. There boys, whose ages were about 10 to 14 years, have had specialized training and the dances were authentic and impressive.

The program opened Sunday morning at nine o'clock with a very beautiful memorial service held in the ball room of the Hotel Wolford honoring all those who gave their lives for their country. Taking part were officers of the Army, Navy, Marines, Air Corps and Nurses in full dress uniform each carrying the flag for their branch of service and a page accompanied each carrying a beautiful American flag. The service was written and narrated by Mrs. Eva Debenham, a member of the auxiliary. She was assisted by War Dad William Tyler.

Following the memorial, a short legislative session was held by each group. The men's meeting was addressed by Q. Ray Reedy of Macomb, the national vice president, and at noon the national president of the auxiliary, Mrs.

Alma Ackman, also of Macomb, gave an inspiring talk to the joint group at the Blue and Gold luncheon.

The afternoon meeting was highlighted by the election and installation of state officers for the coming year. Mrs. Charles Hodges of Macomb was elected president of the auxiliary to succeed Mrs. W. F. Fanning of Jacksonville and Roy Ackman was elected president of War Dads. Norman Kendall is the retiring president.

Harrisburg chapter No. 59 was represented at the convention by Alvin Porter, chapter president and a state director. Mr. Porter was elected vice president of the state organization for the coming year and Harry Rayfield, secretary of the local chapter, was elected as a director.

Mrs. Alvin Porter, Auxiliary chapter No. 59 president and State Councilwoman, represented her chapter and was re-elected to serve on the council another year.

The 1957 convention will be held in Macomb next summer and the national convention will be in Minneapolis, Minn., in October.

$88,419 in Savings Bonds Bought in County During June

Saline county residents purchased $88,419 in Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in the month of June, 1956, according to word from the Treasury Department received by Walter Bargman of Harrisburg, Volunteer Savings Bonds county chairman.

Total sales in Illinois in both series for the month were $33,294,459. This represented 8.4 per cent of total sales in the nation which were $398,363,000, and in the first six months Illinois sales have accounted for 50.2 per cent of the year's quota.

About 11,600 books were published in the United States in 1955. Four-fifths were new, the rest reprints.

Egyptian Health Dep't News

Significant gains were made against several communicable diseases in Illinois during the first half of 1956, according to a report from Dr. Roland R. Cross, director of the State Department of Public Health.

Particularly noteworthy, Dr. Cross said, is a 60 per cent reduction in the incidence of whooping cough. A total of 304 cases had been reported in the state up to June 30, compared with 841 cases in the comparable period of 1955.

Hepatitis is also continuing its downward trend, with 432 cases reported in the first six months of the year, against 709 in the 1955 period. Until last year this disease had been on the increase in the state since about 1950. As late as 1954 almost 2,500 cases were reported.

Other diseases responsible for lower morbidity include typhoid, which declined from a total of 21 cases in the 1955 period to 12 this year; mumps which dropped from 9,882 cases to 5,718; and chickenpox from 14,739 cases to 10,689.

On the unfavorable side of the record, measles was almost four times more prevalent in the state this year than last. A total of 40,289 cases was reported up to June 30, against 19,521 cases in the corresponding period of 1955.

"Since measles usually reaches its peak prevalence in spring and early summer, it seems likely that a considerable reduction in the incidence of the disease may be recorded during the remainder of the year," Dr. Cross said.

The only other diseases that were responsible for markedly higher morbidity during the half year were pneumonia and the venereal infections, both syphilis and gonorrhea.

Case reports of pneumonia rose from a total of 1,511 in the first half of 1955 to 1,843 this year, an increase of more than 20 per cent.

Likewise, case reports of syphilis is increased by about 14 per cent, from a total of 2,299 cases to 2,668, while gonorrhea rose from 10,119 cases to 10,742, an increase of almost 6 per cent.

Dr. Cross pointed out that this upward trend in the incidence of venereal disease is being observed not only in Illinois but throughout the nation generally.

Miss Gwendolyn Sue Radford, William Edgar Hull Wed

Miss Gwendolyn Sue Radford of Marion and William Edgar Hull of Harrisburg were united in marriage Tuesday evening.

The wedding took place in the Aldersgate Methodist church of Marion with the Rev. Ross Smith, church pastor, officiating, with relatives and friends of the bride and groom attending.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Elmer Radford, Marion, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Iley Hull, RFD 1, Harrisburg.

The newlyweds will leave Friday for Elgin, where both have employment.

Mrs. Ira Gibbs Hostess To Baptist Lydia Class

The Lydia Sunday school class of the First Baptist church met Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Ira Gibbs, 502 South Texas, for the business and social hour.

Mrs. Blanche Hunsaker, class president, presided over the business session which opened with the singing of two hymns "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "On Jordan's Stormy Banks." Prayer was offered by the president.

Reports of the various officers were given. Mrs. Sallie Hill, class teacher, gave the devotion from the 23rd Psalm after which a social hour was enjoyed with Mrs. Gibbs serving refreshments of oat meal cookies and orangeade.

Those present were Mrs. Sallie Hill, teacher, Mrs. J. M. Hunsaker, Mrs. Frank Chamness, Mrs. Blanche Oldham, Mrs. Fannie Foster, Mr. Albert Sisk and Mrs. James R. Parton.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fowler had as week end guests, Mrs. Fowler's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Zeth Griffith, her grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Griffith, and great-granddaughter, Linda Griffith, all from Chicago, and a grandson, Dwight Griffith and family of Harrisburg. The occasion was the birthday of Mrs. Fowler and a six o'clock dinner was enjoyed by everyone. Mrs. Fowler especially enjoyed a large basket of flowers for the dinner table and all the good wishes of her family before departing for their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parkinson of 208 West Homer have received word that their grandson, Jimmy Ferrell, of St. Louis has undergone major surgery this week at the DePaul hospital. He is recovering nicely.

DeVary-Lebo Marriage Is Solemnized At Pontiac, Michigan

The Rev. Kenneth Stephens of Galloway Methodist church officiated at the Saturday, July 21, wedding of Maxine Lucille DeVary and Ellis C. Lebo, at Pontiac, Mich. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sturgis DeVary of Pontiac road and Ellis is the son of Mrs. Belle Lebo of Milford, formerly of Carrier Mills.

For the 7:30 o'clock ceremony the bride chose a gown of white nylon sheer over summer satin with a bouffant skirt that extended into a chapel sweep. Venice lace outlined the scoop neckline and the short sleeves. A tiara of seed pearls held her fingertip veil of nylon tulle and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and ivy centered with a white orchid on a white Bible.

Mrs. Russell Poole, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon with yellow ribbon trimming the skirt, the cape sleeves and the rounded neckline. She also wore a matching flower hat.

Bridesmaids were Beverly DeVary and Jettie May Thurnham. They wore similar gowns trimmed in green and orchid respectively. Loren Lebo, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Seating the guests were Carl Lebo of Pontiac, brother of the bridegroom, and Wayne DeVary, brother of the bride.

Following a reception held in the church parlors the couple left for a honeymoon in northern Michigan and Canada. They will reside on Texas avenue in Pontiac, Mich., on their return.

For traveling, the bride changed to a dusty rose dress and matching duster with white accessories. The orchid from her bridal bouquet, was her corsage.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. DeVary wore a light blue lace dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Lebo wore a blue linen dress with white accessories. Her flowers were also white roses.

ENGAGED. Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hancock, RFD 2, Harrisburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to William B. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Martin, 1852 State street, Eldorado. Miss Hancock will attend the Harrisburg Township high school this fall where she will be a senior. Mr. Martin graduated from the Eldorado Township high school with the class of 1952. He attended the University of Illinois and is a graduate of the DeVry Technical Institute in Chicago and is presently employed as an engineer at WSIL-TV. Wedding plans are indefinite.

Urges 'Drastic' Overhaul of Civil Defense

WASHINGTON (UP) — A House subcommittee has called for "drastic" overhaul of the nation's "dangerously shortsighted" Civil Defense policies.

The House Government Operations subcommittee headed by Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif) attacked the Civil Defense program after hearing testimony from 211 leading scientists, government officials and other witnesses.

"The more unprepared we are as a nation, the more tempting a target we are to the aggressor," the subcommittee said in a report released Wednesday night. It called present Civil Defense policies based on evacuation weak, ineffective and dangerously shortsighted. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), chairman of the Congressional Joint Atomic Energy Committee, said later in the night that any Civil Defense program based solely on evacuation "will be a waste of money."

Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson said Wednesday Operation Alert 1956 which just ended demonstrated that neither the United States or any other nation will ever be completely ready to meet the "savage consequences of a nuclear attack."

Wife With Long Memory Asks Divorce

MILWAUKEE (UP) — A 68-year-old woman sought a limited divorce from her 73-year-old husband because he beat her on their wedding night 47 years ago and struck her several times since then.

Mrs. Jadwiga Gensty also said her husband, Peter, made her pay the musicians at their wedding reception and did not buy her food needed after a recent operation.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Bob Simpson, 801 West Raymond, a baby girl, weighing seven pounds, named Kimberly Jan, born July 25 at the Harrisburg hospital.

A daughter was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Erkman at Mercy hospital, Dubuque, Iowa. The baby, weighing 6 3/4 pounds, has been named Susan Anne. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mitchell of East Walnut street and Everett Erkman of Eldorado.

New Brazilian Capital

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP) — A Chamber of Deputies committee voted Wednesday to name Brazil's future capital "Brazilia." The proposed name must be submitted to the full House for approval. The capital is to be transferred from Rio De Janeiro to an interior plateau. The city of Washington will be used as a model for the new capital.

Harriman Offers 4-Point Program To Aid Farmers

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP) — Gov. Averell Harriman of New York outlined a four-point program to restore farm prosperity Wednesday while blaming the "Eisenhower raw deal" for the farm problem.

Harriman spoke at the Champaign County Fair here in what was billed as a major farm policy address. He charged that farmers are "dis-illusioned and angry" with Mr. Eisenhower for breaking his 1952 campaign "promise" to maintain 90 per cent of parity price supports.

Under the program outlined, Harriman said a big dent could be made in the nation's farm surpluses by reestablishing a food stamp plan for needy families and expansion of the school lunch program. The Democratic presidential as-

Ronnie's Studio is Awarded Certificate at Photographers' Meeting

Ronnie Doerge of Ronnie's Studio was awarded a Certificate of Merit by the Photographers' Association of America at its annual convention and trade show being held this week at the Conrad Hilton hotel in Chicago.

A Certificate of Merit is awarded to a photographer when his picture is selected to hang at the convention by a jury of the nation's most famed professional photographers. Only a few hundred of the thousands of prints submitted passed the rigid standards of quality and technique required of an award-winning photograph.

pirant also urged restoration of fixed price supports and the federal purchase of meat direct from farmers rather than packing companies.

House Probers Hit Truck Purchase By Postal Dep't

WASHINGTON (UP) — House investigators charged today that the Post Office Department "affronted the will of Congress" by buying "experimental" postal trucks without calling for competitive bids.

"The designation of the vehicles as 'experimental' was a thinly disguised attempt to avoid a competitive procurement," a House government operations subcommittee said in a report.

The Post Office Department bought 250 trucks from Twin Coach Co. of Kent, Ohio, in a series of three negotiated contracts for $714,500 in 1954.

A later lease-purchase arrangement for 32 other Twin Coach vehicles—although the department advertised for bids — "was an obvious evasion of normal competitive procedures," the subcommittee said. "The advertisement for bids was a complete sham to give the transaction an aura of propriety."

7 Students Win $96,000 at Reno

RENO, Nev. (AP) — A group of seven college students won $96,000 at roulette through a new "system," the manager of a Reno gambling casino reported Wednesday.

Raymond I. Smith, manager of Harold's Club, said the seven began working out their system about June 1, concentrating on a wheel that had 36 numbers and a single zero.

At first only two students took part, but then they hired five others to help them. They manned the wheel in six hour shifts, recording each spin of the wheel for many days.

Then they were ready. Last weekend, they began a four-day marathon during which they won most of their $96,000, Smith said. The marathon ended Monday morning.

Smith said the collegians varied the numbers they played from day to day. However, they placed many of their bets on 6, 8, 9, 10, 20, 27, 32 and 34. They never bet more than $25 on a single number.

Smith said he did not know the names of the students. He presumed they attend University of Nevada.

"It's wonderful what a college education will do for young people," he said.

E. St. Louis Woman, Boarder Hurt When Porch Roof Collapses

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — A 43-year-old East St. Louis mother, two of her children and a boarder were buried under debris when a porch roof collapsed.

The woman, Mrs. Howard Powers, suffered serious head injuries and a broken right arm Wednesday night when the roof of the porch at 917 N. 9th St. fell on them. The boarder, Joe Miles, 20, also suffered head injuries.

However, Betty Jo, 8 months old, being held by her mother, and another child, Claudine Powers, 3, escaped injury.

Arms Appeals Revocation of Teacher License

SPRINGFIELD — Ernest Arms, 43, superintendent of Unit School No. 3 at Crab Orchard in Williamson County, today carried an appeal against revocation of his teacher's certificate to the state teacher's certification board.

Russell Emery, Williamson County superintendent of schools, was the principal witness against Arms as the hearing started in the new state office building.

Arms, of near Harrisburg, is charged with irregularities involving school funds and "unprofessional conduct," including failure to attend meetings called by Emery.

A justice of the peace has dismissed for lack of evidence charges dealing with the alleged irregularities brought by Emery.

About 75 witnesses and interested persons from the school area were present for the hearing.

Luther J. Black, secretary of the certification board, said the hearing could not be completed today and probably would be continued Friday.

Arms was demoted as superintendent in June, 1955, and offered a post as teacher. He refused and started suit for reinstatement as superintendent.

He was reinstated in May, 1956. Meanwhile, Emery revoked his teaching certificate.

Black said Arms' appeal to the board meant the certificate would be in force and valid pending outcome of the appeal.

Arms was represented by attorneys R. W. Harris and Charles B. Winters, both of Marion.

Scout Tropical Storm in Gulf

NEW ORLEANS — A second hurricane hunter plane today scouted the season's first tropical storm which was reported showing weak signs of cyclonic movement in the southwest Gulf of Mexico.

Rising tides were forecast for the lower Texas coast and small craft southward from Corpus Christi, Tex., were warned to remain in port.

The storm was first noticed Wednesday. The U. S. Weather Bureau reported in a special bulletin that by Wednesday night it had shown "some signs of development" but generally its squalls had remained localized. Winds were up to about 30 miles per hour.

Armory Bids Too High, Boyle to Confer in Capital

SPRINGFIELD — Maj. Gen. Leo M. Boyle today announced he will confer with Defense Department officials in Washington concerning unexpectedly high bids for construction of National Guard armories at Effingham, Freeport, Litchfield and West Frankfort.

Boyle, Illinois adjutant general, said he had been directed by Gov. William G. Stratton to see what steps should be taken concerning the proposed construction.

"The bids range from $7,593 to $47,707 above the estimated maximum cost of construction," Boyle said. The armories are to be financed by state and federal funds, with the federal government to pay 75 per cent of the costs.

Boyle said federal engineers placed a maximum estimate of $230,000 per armory on the proposed construction. He said he planned to go to Washington as soon as possible for a meeting with defense officials.

"It may be the federal authorities will ask Illinois to readvertise . . . for new bids; or the government may decide to seek bids itself on the four buildings," he said.

Mine Removal Begins

MARSEILLE, France — French demolition experts will undertake the delicate task Friday of lifting a World War II mine out of the heavily-traveled Marseille harbor. The huge mine was discovered recently in the harbor, where hundreds of thousands of ship passengers have embarked and disembarked since the end of the war.

Stassen Plans New Poll for Nixon, Herter

Has Breakfast Conference with GOP Chairman Hall

WASHINGTON — Harold E. Stassen announced today that he will launch a new nationwide poll next week to "re-evaluate" the relative strength of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

Stassen, who is boosting Herter instead of Nixon for the GOP vice presidential nomination, made the announcement after a breakfast conference with Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall.

Hall, a strong Nixon supporter, pulled the rug from under Stassen's pro-Herter maneuver by announcing Tuesday that Herter had agreed to place Nixon's name in nomination at the San Francisco GOP convention starting Aug. 20.

Stassen Wednesday accused Hall of trying to dictate Nixon's nomination and "foreclose" any free choice by convention delegates.

In a statement, Stassen said he had a "thorough and friendly" talk with Hall. He said no commitments were requested or given by either man.

Stassen launched his Herter-for-vice-presidential boomlet Monday. Just 24 hours later, it was jolted rudely by Hall's announcement that Herter had agreed to put Nixon's name in nomination.

It was reported here today that Herter agreed to make the nominating speech only after he was convinced President Eisenhower wanted him to. The report got heavy support today when the White House confirmed that Mr. Eisenhower had discussed with Hall the possibility of Herter doing the honors for Nixon.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Herter was one of a list of possibilities which the President and Hall discussed at a recent meeting at the Eisenhower farm in Gettysburg, Pa. But he said the initiative was Hall's; the President did not personally name Herter. The final choice, Hagerty said, rested with Nixon.

The fact that Mr. Eisenhower knew of—and presumably didn't object to—Herter's nominating Nixon was cited by observers as new evidence that the President has had no sympathy for Stassen's dump-Nixon drive.

Steel Negotiators Meet Three Hours, Still No Contract

NEW YORK — Union and industry steel negotiators met for nearly three hours today but have "not yet reached agreement" on wording of a new contract to end the 26-day steel strike.

Both industry negotiators and representatives of the United Steelworkers agreed to meet again this afternoon.

David J. McDonald, USW president, postponed a 1 p. m. scheduled meeting of his union Wage Policy Committee until Friday. This appeared to forestall any announcement of a settlement today.

Both industry and union spokesmen said the delays in reaching a final draft of the contract "does not mean any new snag." They said the contract still was being written.

CAVE-IN-ROCK, Ill. — A community celebration will be held at Cave-in-Rock Sunday to honor a couple who have been married 65 years.

Actually the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ale Rose is today, which is also her 81st birthday. He is 90.

Marine Reservists Force Des Moines Stations Off Air in Unofficial Mission

DES MOINES — A Marine reserve sergeant and 51 companions took over Des Moines for 15 minutes late Wednesday, forcing all local television and radio stations but one off the air. They had no official authorization.

The reservists, who had attended their weekly meeting Wednesday night, said the purpose of their "mission" was to blacken the city prior to a simulated A-bomb attack. They carried dummy rifles and hand grenades with them.

Reserve officials indicated that no disciplinary action would be taken against the group, who kept their plans from officers.

Led by M.Sgt. Don E. Plato, members of the 20th Rifle Company took over the filter center of the ground observer corps, the Civil Defense headquarters, the telephone company offices and equipment, the water plant, and an emergency unit of the Air National Guard.

In addition to these activities, the Marines raided KRNT-TV and radio, WHO-TV and radio, KWDM radio and KIOA radio stations in Des Moines. They also silenced WOI-TV and radio station in Ames, Iowa.

Broadcasting and telecasting was discontinued for a brief period of time. Plato said they failed to silence one remaining radio station in Des Moines, because the door was locked, and the men didn't want to cause any property damage.

Plato said the non-commissioned officers of the group planned the maneuver, labeled "Operation Bilko."

Lt. Col. Robert Moorhead, commander of the 124th Air National Guard, refused to comment on the action, other than to promise to conduct an investigation today.

Maj. James Bradley, the group's immediate superior, said the operation was "the biggest surprise to me just as it was to everyone else in the town. However, I'm pleased with the boys because I understand the operation was a complete success."

Asked if he would take any disciplinary action against the men, Bradley replied, "No. In fact I'll defend them against anyone who does put a squawk in against them." However, he added, "You'd think they'd let the skipper in on something like this."

Italian Liner, Rammed By Swedish Ship, Sinks

Capt. Piero Calamai and 19 of his men were ordered to leave the ship by the Italian Ministry of Merchant Marine about 9 a. m. EDT. Within an hour the liner was almost completely submerged.

All survivors were being brought to New York where Red Cross and health officials set up emergency facilities to care for the scores of cases of shock and minor injuries. At least seven seriously hurt survivors, one of whom died later, were plucked from the deck of the Stockholm by a Coast Guard helicopter and taken to a Boston hospital.

The man, who died five minutes after being brought here, was identified as Alf Johnsson, 30, apparently a seaman from the Stockholm.

Another of the seriously injured brought ashore here was an unconscious girl who appeared to be about 10 years old.

The Coast Guard reported three others from the Andrea Doria had been killed and it was attempting at 11 a. m. EDT to retrieve a body from the sea.

The Ile de France was expected to reach New York harbor about 4 p. m. EDT and the other rescue ships will follow. The Stockholm, its steel bow peeled back like a tin can, is not expected to limp into port until Friday morning. It is being escorted by the Coast Guard cutter Owaseo.

Litter Floats on Ocean

Among those who narrowly escaped death in the dark Atlantic were Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia and his wife, film star Ruth Roman, Marion Boyer, former general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission, New York Times correspondent Camille Clamfara, Morris Novak, president of Station WOV, New York, and Ferdinand M. Thieriot, circulation manager of the San Francisco Chronicle.

The first newsman to reach the scene by plane, United Press correspondent James Geggis, reported that personal possessions of the passengers, including packed suitcases that had to be left behind, littered the calm water around the sinking liner.

The Andrea Doria had been scheduled to dock in New York at 9:30 a. m. today. It had 1,135 passengers and 500 crew members aboard. The Stockholm left New York Wednesday and was headed for Copenhagen with 500 passengers and 200 crewmen.

There was no official explanation why the modern radar equipment aboard the ships failed to avert the tragedy. Marine authorities said atmospheric conditions may have affected radar. A full investigation of the causes of the collision was expected.

Geggis reported that the Andrea Doria looked like a "broken toy boat on the calm sea in the glare of the rising sun." Geggis flew within 500 feet of the ship but saw no sign of life aboard. The ocean lapped at the edge of the first observation deck.

"Lifeboats bobbed about the Andrea Doria and the Stockholm," Geggis reported. "They were filled with bright red life jackets. A helicopter hovered over the Stockholm, then dipped down to a space cleared on its deck to remove the injured. Survivors jammed the decks. They looked up at us but there was no waving."

Jagged Mass of Steel

Geggis said the bow of the Stockholm was "a jagged mass of steel and steel plates were peeled back like a sardine can, forming a hole extending from a foot above the water line to the bowsprit." He said the damage to the Stockholm indicated she had knifed into the Italian liner "like a can opener."

A score of vessels ranging from luxury liners to small freighters answered the SOS calls from the two disabled giants. The Navy aircraft carrier Tarawa was alerted at Quonset Point, R. I., but was not needed in the rescue operations.

Boy Sends 4 Cent Tax to Stratton

CHICAGO — Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton received a letter in which Paul Ostrof of Chicago enclosed his income tax, along with a detailed listing of his gross earnings.

Paul, 12, will receive a complete tax refund, however, for state revenue officials agreed that his income of $1.20 for shining his father's shoes was non-taxable.

His 4 cent tax was returned to him.

Double Tragedy Leaves 4 Orphans

CAMERON, Ill. — Four children were left orphans today as result of a double tragedy in which their mother died of automobile accident injuries and their father shot and killed himself.

Frank Anderson, 40, was found dead in the front yard of his home Wednesday by two of his sons. A Warren County coroner's jury ruled he took his own life with a .22 caliber rifle.

Mrs. Anderson, 44, died in a Galesburg hospital Sunday of injuries she suffered in a two-car collision.

Pilotless Jet Hits Building

NEW CASTLE, Pa. — An Air Force jet trainer, pilotless when two airmen bailed out, crashed into a two-story apartment building Wednesday night. There were no fatalities. Six persons suffered shock.

The plane sheared off a tree, plowed through the roof of the brick building and burst into flames, leaving only two walls of the structure standing.

Air Force officials at Youngstown, Ohio, Municipal Airport identified the pilots at 1st Lt. Gordon McLeod, 26, Heywood, Calif., and 2nd Lt. William Ryan, 24, Fort Worth, Tex. The officers, stationed at Perrin Air Force Base, Tex., were on a routine flight from Stewart AFB, N. Y., to Chanute AFB, Ill. Ryan was at the controls.

The pilots bailed out at 4,000 feet over the nearby community of Princeton minutes before the crash at 7:30 p. m. EDT.

"Did your husband get promoted, Mrs. Higby? I remember when you moved here he used to wear a shirt two days!"

The Blonde Cried

MURDER

By Brett Halliday

Copyright 1956 by Brett Halliday Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Since 9:32 p. m. the house detective at the Hibiscus hotel has been unable to find the body of a man reported murdered in 316. A woman fleeing from a pursuer has been taken to the headquarters of Private Detective Michael Shayne. And a scar-faced man is apparently trying to trace the woman.

THE man was getting his wallet out again. The dispatcher watched him covertly as he reluctantly withdrew another ten.

Then she punched a button and droned, "Calling car 62. Sixty-two. Come in, Archie." She pressed another button and leaned back with her headphones to wait.

After 30 seconds, she said, "Archie. There's a man here wants to know where you took a lady fare you picked up a block from the Hibiscus half an hour ago."

She listened and then asked her questioner: "Which way from the Hibiscus? North or South?"

He thought quickly, closing his eyes to remember and orient himself. "Tell him north. Just the first block north."

She told Archie that. Then her eyes rounded and she turned to say, "Archie wants to know if you're the guy that was chasing her. That she was so scared of."

"I tell you she's my sister. That man chasing her—he's the one I'm afraid of. Tell the driver she's in danger and I must get to her before it's too late."

She gave Archie this answer over the microphone and listened again. Then she reached out and tweaked the $10 bill from his hand and told him:

"Archie says he guesses it don't matter much either way whether you are the guy or not. Because he took her to see Michael Shayne, the private detective, and if you feel like tangling with that red-head he'd like to be around to see it."

"A private detective?" The man bit his underlip nervously, then said, "Well, she's probably safe enough then. Did this Archie say where Shayne is?"

"Yeh." She gave him the address of the hotel Archie had relayed to her.

9:48 P. M.
Driving southward at a moderate pace on the right-hand lane of Biscayne Boulevard as it entered the city, Michael Shayne glanced sideways and downward, approvingly, at the brown head of Lucy Hamilton pressed lightly against the shoulder of his white linen jacket.

He was bare-headed and his coarse red hair was ruffled pleasantly by the night breeze. His big hands were loosely on the wheel and a feeling of contentment and relaxation gripped him.

This was the really good time of the year in Miami, he reflected. The worst heat of the summer had passed, yet the vanguard of sun-seekers from the North had not yet arrived to take over the Magic City. He hadn't a single case in his files, and probably wouldn't have for a month or more—until the quick-money boys and the suckers arrived in droves and his particular talents would become much in demand.

Lucy rubbed her cheek unashamedly against his right bicep, and said in a muffled voice, "Wake me when we get home, Michael."

He chuckled indulgently. "I like you when you sort of take your hair down and forget about being the prim and proper secretary."

dinner before you act properly human."

He stirred uneasily and lifted one hand in an unconscious gesture to tug at the lobe of his ear. Very quietly, he asked, "Would you change things if you could, Lucy?"

She sat up then, and moved slightly away from him as though this tack in the discussion required a little more formality between them. "I don't know." Her voice was grave and honestly dubious. "I just don't know, Michael."

THEY were below 79th Street now, rapidly approaching the side street that led to her apartment.

"Maybe time has caught up with us, angel. I feel this is a matter of serious discussion. Any cognac at your place?"

"You know there is. Whatever was left in the bottle the last time you were there."

"Can't get it out of my thick head that one of these days you'll start feeding some other guy the stuff."

"Maybe I will. One of these days."

Neither of them said anything more until he drew up to the curb in front of her apartment building and got out. He went around to open the door for her, took her elbow to help her out, then put his other hand under her other elbow and held her a moment looking down into her lightly flushed face. She made no move to push closer or to draw back. She stood quiescent, waiting.

He bent to brush his lips across her forehead just below the tendrils of brown hair, then turned to tuck her arm into his and led her toward the entrance.

He watched her speculatively as she crossed the long pleasant room toward the kitchenette, saying over her shoulder with a faint smile, "Make yourself comfortable."

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

State House Will Not Be the Same As in Hey-Day of Orville Hodge

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—It will be a long time before the State House will feel the same "same" meaning as when ex-State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, Granite City, was in his hey-day. The fabulous Orville is gone now but he has left behind broken illusions of many whose admiration and friendship for him has turned to pity and in some cases bitter criticism.

Probably no man in state government had the respect and liking of people employed by the state or engaged in politics as did Hodge. In the state Legislature he had more influence than any other person both when he was a member of the House of Representatives and later as state auditor. He is credited with saving several major administration-backed proposals such as reappointment.

He also was responsible for passage of the proposal to revise the state banking act, which, to become law, must obtain approval of a majority of the voters at the November 6 general election. It revises the existing act which was written in 1888 and gives new powers to the state auditor's in passing on the qualifications of applicants for a bank charter.

Regarded Surefire Candidate
It is ironic that Hodge was successful in getting the 1955 legislature to pass a law requiring him to audit the accounts of the University of Illinois, because, he said, one of the basic functions of auditor is "to serve General Assembly by furnishing accurate information on state expenditures." The irony is in the appointment of Lloyd Morey, former president of the university, as his successor.

Hodge as state auditor had supervision over more than 500 state banks and approximately 3,000 other financial institutions such as currency exchanges, credit unions, and building and loan associations, and was actually the official state guardian of about $15 billion of the people's private money. He was regarded as a surefire candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1960.

As disclosures of the financial irregularities of his office took on magnified appearance, fellow members of the "state team"—Gov. William G. Stratton and Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter worried to the point of quizzing Hodge but couldn't find him. Finally Stratton, reaching Hodge at Chicago, invited him in to the Executive Mansion where the auditor persisted he was innocent.

Stratton Moves
Later, however, as disclosures indicated that the irregularities would run over $1 million Stratton moved, although just how he manipulated Hodge to resign as auditor, withdraw as a Republican delegate-at-large to the San Francisco GOP convention and then as a Republican candidate for reelection has never been actually disclosed.

Previous to Hodge calling at the Mansion on July 16 to be closeted with Stratton for an hour, the Governor had telephoned Atty. Gen. Latham Castle, Sandwich, to ask him to prepare legal forms for Hodge to sign in giving up his public positions and to stand by for another call. When the call came Castle hurried to the Mansion where Hodge quietly signed the three forms.

A humorous incident in the progress of the Hodge affair was when Morey after taking the oath as Hodge's successor, was asked by newsmen about his party affiliation. Morey said that "generally I have been a Republican all my life but over at the University when we deal with public officials it is done on a non-political basis."

Regarded as Rich Man
Questioned more closely as to whether he was a "registered Democrat or a registered Republican" Morey answered that he was a registered Republican prompting State Chairman Morton H. Hollingsworth, Joliet, to exclaim: "You don't think we would miss on that one, do you?" An ad lib by a reporter was that "Holly certainly held his breath until Morey said he was a registered Republican."

Just how high the financial irregularities will run may not be known for some weeks as accountants and investigators search records and question employees as to more missing warrants. Castle estimates it has reached the $800,000 figure and George P. Contrakon, Springfield, Sangamon county state's attorney, has placed it at $717,000.

Hodge was regarded as a fabulously rich man even before he was auditor. Just how much wealth he had is disputed but he had interests in various businesses, including banks, newspapers, an automobile agency, a household appliance store, real estate which included a heavy investment in housing projects, an apartment hotel in Fort Lauderdale and Nestle's, a huge Swiss chocolate company.

Popular Man at State House
When the ramifications of the Hodge case continued to grow apace with the result that there were at least 13 investigations going on simultaneously and warrants for his arrest were issued in Chicago and Springfield, it prompted a radio commentator in discussing the situation last weekend, to say "the thing is getting so big that there aren't just enough Orville Hodge's to go around."

Hodge was the state house's most popular man. He was liked for a warm personality, was always fashionably dressed, had salutations for everyone and at Christmas time was a generous giver of gifts. In the General Assembly he was the co-author with Circuit Judge Walker Butler, Chicago, (then a state senator) of the Hodge-Butler tax ceiling laws, commended by many state civic groups.

Hodge, now 51, was honored only about 18 months ago as the "man of the year" in the Madison county tri city area (Granite City, Madison and Venice). After becoming state auditor he bought a shore home at nearby Lake Springfield, spent thousands of dollars (some of it for tile he got from former Gov. John H. Stelle) on it and entertained lavishly.

Hodge's popularity as a vote getter is shown in his races for state auditor both in 1952 and 1956. In 1952 he was elected with a state total vote of 2,336,424 as compared with Stratton's total of 2,316,363 and Carpenter's 2,196,327. In the primary this year he led the state ticket in winning renomination. He received 672,439 as compared with 556,909 given Stratton for renomination.

One of Day's first acts as acting auditor was to release state public assistance checks held up during the hiatus between Hodge's resigning and Morey's taking over. Day said that 47,108 warrants were written the day after Morey was sworn in through use of extra check-writing crews and through overtime work, nearly three times the load of a normal day.

Clarence W. Klassen, Springfield, chief state sanitary engineer, has been renamed sanitary engineering consultant to the World Health Organization of the United Nations. The assignment will take Klassen around the world with stops at Hawaii, Japan, Formosa, Hong Kong, the Philippines, British North Bornea, Malaya, Thailand, India, Pakistan, Italy, Switzerland and France.

Scenes of Ozark Tour

Good Highway For Trigg Trail Future Project

Members of the 26th annual Ozark tour, which was completed recently, were impressed with the scenic beauty of the Pope and Johnson county areas around Eddyville, Lake Glendale, and Goreville.

The Ozark tours, originated by the late Col. L. O. Trigg of Eldorado, seek out the little known and scenic attractions. They are trail blazers for the family auto tours and good roads will make them an attraction for tourists. The program is well fitted into the Shawnee Hills Tourist organization which has been formed to attract tourists and industry into this section of southern Illinois.

There is a growing interest in southern Illinois, by people traveling across the new bridges at Shawneetown and New Haven and also interest has been shown by residents of the northern section of Illinois who are attracted to scenic spots of the southern section.

Projects which have been discussed on the Ozark tours are a dustless highway along the ridges from Battery Rock opposite Caseyville, Ky., on the Ohio river, to Devil's Backbone park north of Grand Tower on the Mississippi, which has been labeled the Trigg Memorial Ozark trail.

Other projects are for roads into Indian Kitchen on Lusk Creek canyon and prehistoric stone fort; and to promote good roads into the Little Garden of Gods in Mountain township which was visited on the Ozark tour last year.

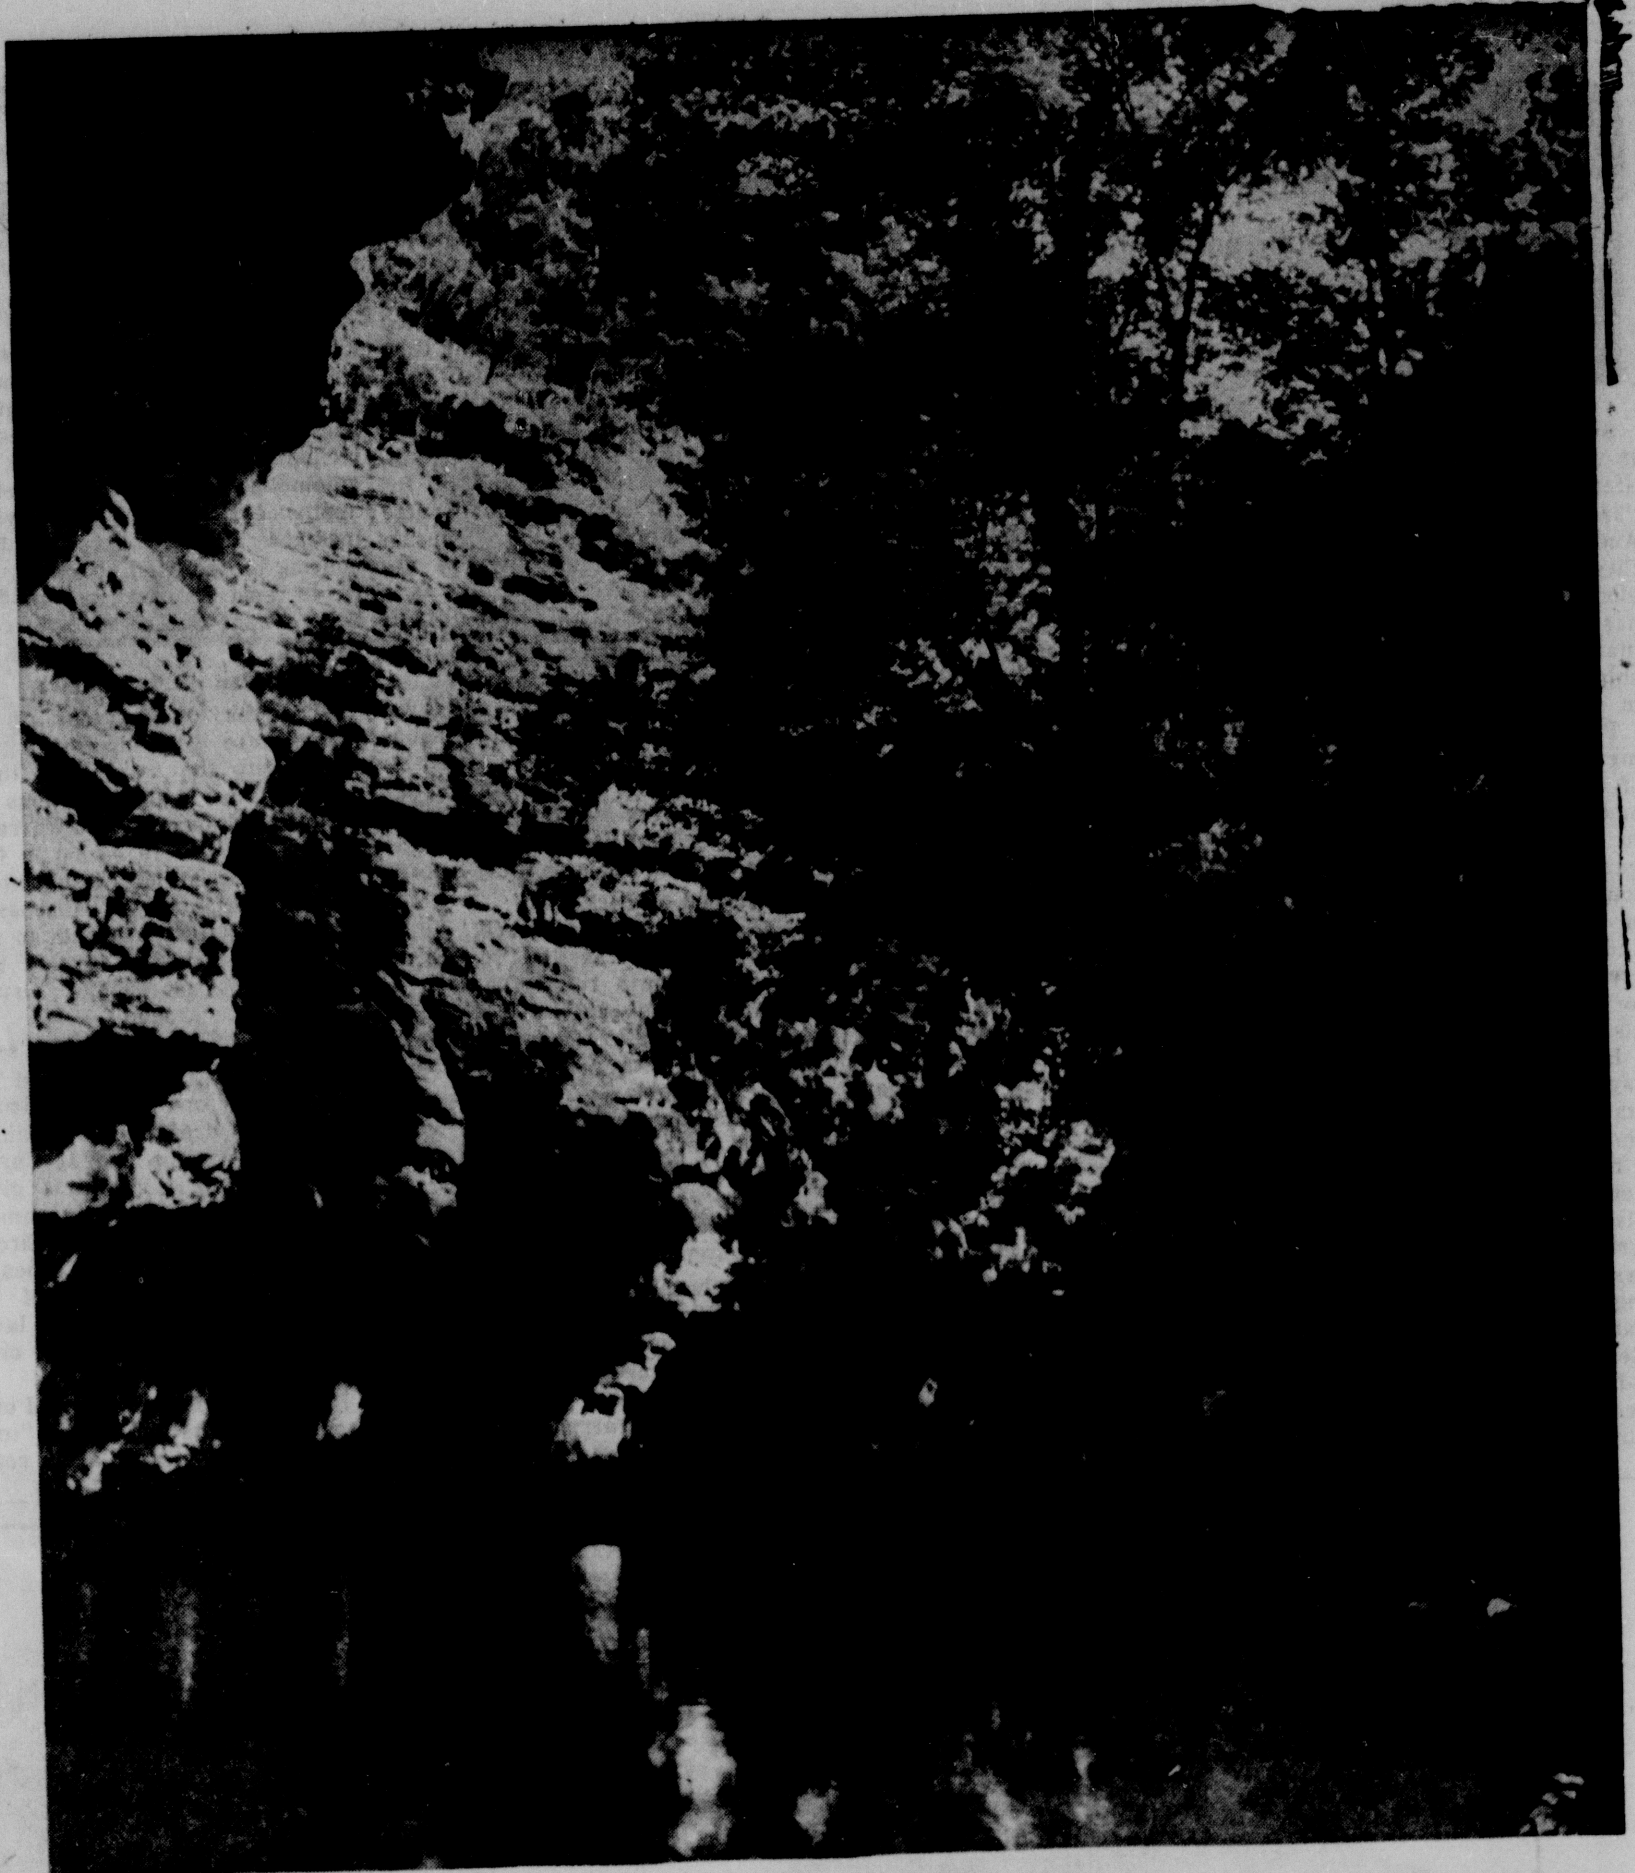

Scenic, historic and recreation places in this area are unsurpassed in any section of the country, and it is through the annual Ozark tours and the new Shawnee Hills organization that this area may develop into a real tourist attraction which will bring additional revenue to business places of southern Illinois.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of Nellie Clark, who passed away one year ago July 26:
Another year has passed and gone, But God knew best to call her home.

To live in a mansion made of gold. We miss her voice we used to hear, And things she did for all so dear, Will never be forgotten.
Sadly missed by mother, brother, Jesse Lane and family. *24-1

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Nellie Clark, who passed away one year ago today:
The rolling stream of time flows on
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile

Of mother, who once sat there.
The flowers we lay upon your grave
May wither and decay,
But the love we have for you, dear,
Will never fade away.

A loving mother, so true and kind,
No friend on earth like her we find;
For all of us she did her best,
May God grant her eternal rest.

Sadly missed by her husband,
Andy Clark and children, Wendell and Alfreda. *24-1

Cubs Defeat Pirates, 17-6, In Kiwanis Play

By David Nelson
The Cubs downed the Pirates, 17-6, in the only Kiwanis league baseball game played Wednesday.

The Cubs literally walked to victory over the Pirates as they drew 18 bases on balls, while getting only three base hits. Lucas and Betz, pitchers for the winners, collected all of their team's hits while giving up six runs on 11 base hits. For the losers at the plate Summers had three safe blows and Morgan and Howton hit safely twice. Summers was the losing pitcher.

Snider, Newcombe Lead 2-1 Dodger Win Over Reds; Second Loss for Lawrence

By United Press
At long last, the Dodgers may be making their move and it seems rather fitting that two "old pros"—Duke Snider and Don Newcombe—are leading the way.

Snider, something of a Brooklyn disappointment for the first half of the season, smashed his 24th homer over the 411-foot center field fence at Jersey City, N. J., with one out in the ninth inning Wednesday night to give the Dodgers their fourth victory in a row, a 2-1 decision over Cincinnati.

Newcombe pitched brilliantly in racking up his 14th victory, allowing only five hits in besting Redleg ace Brooks Lawrence.

Until Snider decided matters with his wallop—a blow that moved him into a tie with Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati for the National League home run leadership—the Dodgers and Redlegs were locked in a 1-1 tie. Frank Robinson hit his 22nd homer in the third for Cincinnati and Carl Furillo smacked his 12th homer in the fourth.

From then on until Snider tagged him, Lawrence didn't allow a hit, but the Duke's smash sent him down to his second defeat against 14 wins.

The victory was Brooklyn's fourth in as many games played at Jersey City this season and it moved the Dodgers 1-2 games within the second-place Redlegs.

The league-leading Braves, paced by Bobby Thomson and Eddie Mathews, sent the Giants down to their seventh straight defeat, 7-4. Thomson exploded a grand-slam homer in the sixth that brought Milwaukee from behind and Mathews rapped out four of the Braves' 12 hits, including his 17th homer. Bob Buhl was nicked for 10 hits but went the route to gain his fifth straight victory and 13th of the season.

Roberto Clemente's grand-slam homer in the ninth inning, an inside-the-park job, helped the Pirates to a 9-8 triumph over the Cubs. Victim of Clemente's wallop was Jim Brosnan, who made only one pitch in suffering his fifth defeat. Nellie King was the winner in relief. Dale Long hit his 20th homer in the fourth, setting a new Pittsburgh home run mark for left-handed hitters. Arky Vaughan set the previous mark of 19 in 1935.

Cards Beat Phils

The Cardinals rapped reliever Ron Negray for two runs in the 10th inning to beat the Phillies, 8-7, after Granny Hamner's three-run homer in the ninth had tied the score at 6-all. A walk, Wally Moon's single, Richie Ashburn's error and Hal Smith's single produced the two Cardinal runs in the 10th and insured the victory since the Phils bounced back with a run in their half of the 10th. Reliever Larry Jackson was credited with the victory. Stan Lopata and Del Ennis each homered for the Phillies.

The Yankees blasted three White Sox pitchers for 12 hits and an easy 10-1 victory as southpaw Whitey Ford nailed down his 13th triumph with a fine four-hit effort.

Yogi Berra led the Yankee assault with three hits that drove in three runs while Hank Bauer also chipped in with three hits. Dick Donovan duelled on even terms with Ford until the fifth when the Yanks scored two runs and then added two more in the sixth. The American League leaders continued their bombardment on Paul LaPalme and Ellis Kinder with three-run clusters in the eighth and ninth.

Kansas City exploded for eight runs in the seventh inning to defeat the Red Sox, 9-6. Harry Simpson's 15th homer with two on featured the big inning and paved the way for reliever Tom Gorman's seventh victory after the Red Sox had taken a 6-0 lead. Harry Dorish was the loser.

Frank House's seventh homer with two men on capped a four-run rally in the eighth inning and led the Tigers to a 6-2 victory over the Orioles. The victory enabled the Tigers to climb into a fifth-place tie with Baltimore. Paul Foytack picked up his eighth victory in relief of Virgil Trucks. Earl Torgeson also homered for Detroit.

Left-hander Herb Score struck out 10 batters and pitched five-hit ball in leading the Cleveland Indians to their fifth straight victory, 11-3 over Washington. Score had a shutout until the eighth when Roy Sievers hit his 19th homer with two on. Bob Avila and Jim Hegon each homered for the Indians.

SPORTS

THE WINNERS! The winning Rotary baseball team, flashing the victors' smile, pose in front of their dugout following their thrilling 17-6 win from the Kiwanians Wednesday night. Rumors that those kneeling had to be helped to a standing position were called "pure propaganda" today by one of the members. He said "Sure we were slow getting up, but not because we couldn't. We just like to be in a kneeling position." Front row, left to right, Pete Gardner and John Foster; second row, left to right, Bill Stain, giving the "V" for victory sign, "Pusher" Lynch, Dr. L. I. Webb,

Berrios, Anahuac In 10-Round TV Bout Friday Night

Shooting to get back into the running for a title bout with featherweight champion Sandy Saddler, rough and fiery Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico battles onrushing Kid Anahuac of Mexico in an important featherweight bout over the 10-round route at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

What shapes up as a lightning-fast, eye-pleasing contest will be televised nationally by NBC. The fight will be telecast at 8 p. m. by Station WISN-TV.

The 23-year-old Berrios, Puerto Rico's hottest fistic product since Sixto Escobar ruled the bantams two decades ago, was knocked out of a title shot June 15 when he lost a video scorcher to Algeria's Cherif Hamia. A two-year army veteran, Berrios came to New York in 1951 and had won 15 out of 20 when he moved in against Hamia and was sidetracked. Now he's fighting to get back among the challengers.

It will be no easy chore against the Mexico City Kid, whose name is Humberto Martinez. Anahuac became a professional in 1951 and fought in Mexico, Cuba and Venezuela before invading the United States last year. Indicating his proficiency as a combination boxer-puncher, the Kid won all nine of his bouts last year, five of them by knockouts.

Archie Moore Stops Parker In Ninth Round

TORONTO, Ont. — Archie Moore, 39, about $45,000 richer for having stopped big James J. Parker in the ninth round, felt the "sharpest" of his career today as he anticipated with gusto his nearly certain shot at the heavyweight crown in September.

"With 10 fights under my belt already this year, I'm sharper than ever before and I'm hitting with more leverage," said the ancient maestro from San Diego, Calif., whose victory Wednesday night practically insured the September title fight with young Floyd Patterson at New York's Yankee Stadium.

Moore was as delighted with his performance against blood-smearing Parker as were promoters Jack Solomons of London and Vig Bagnato of Toronto, who teamed for the most successful boxing show in Canadian history at the Maple Leaf Baseball Stadium.

New Canadian records of 19,800 fans and $148,500 were set by the extravaganza at which boxing writers from several countries wore white tuxedos, and at which drum majorettes were ushers and a bagpipe band provided the music. There were 76 writers at ringside.

Parker of Toronto, packing 211 1/2 pounds on a six-foot-three and three-quarter tower, made a game stand against lethal Archie, but he

Rotarians Score 11 Runs in Last Inning to Beat Kiwanians, 17-6

Rotary club members—those that were able to be up and about today—are telling their friends and acquaintances about the thrilling baseball decision they grabbed from the Kiwanis team Wednesday evening, 17-6.

Apparently hopelessly beaten when they came up for their last bats, the Rotary team rallied for 11 runs and the victory.

The Kiwanis team held a 16-6 advantage as the last of the seventh inning started. Then the Rotary bats began to rattle out base hits, and combined with walks and errors a big 11-run rally was staged.

By this time players on both clubs were "bushed" and the running had slowed to a walk.

For example, Rotarian Jughie Walker was on third base when a teammate punched a short single to left field. Walker started running for home, stumbled to his knees and remained in a crawling position for a few seconds to catch his breath. Looked like a sure out. But the Kiwanis left fielder Fred Wunderlich was also tired—so tired in fact that he couldn't pick up the baseball and make the throw home. Walker finally got to his feet and walked across home plate for a run. And the big crowd on hand was pleased with the action, or lack thereof.

Kiwanians Score First

The Kiwanis team batted first and scored a run when Gene Morris reached first when the catcher dropped a third strike. Morris made it on around to home.

The Rotarians came back with three markers in their first inning. Featured in the rally was a long hit by Gardner and the running of Pankey.

The Kiwanis team tied the score at 3-3 in the second; the Rotarians went in front 5-3 in the bottom of the third; then the Kiwanians scored three in the fourth, added six in the fifth and two in each of the sixth and seventh frames, while holding Rotary to a single tally in the fifth. This made the score 16-6 as the last half of the seventh and final inning started.

A little bit of everything happened in this last half inning. But when it was all over 11 runs had crossed the plate and the Rotary club had pulled one out of the fire.
